1. X-Ray	Rage
	A composer of several techno tunes, X-Ray delivers Rage, a dark action tune with influences from old Amiga games. Rage is techno, action and darkness in an awesome blend. X-Ray is a member of the Grayscale Project, featured in prior volumes of Infinite Game Music. Also, He recently participated in the intro competition at Forever 7. © X-Ray

2. Alex Mauer	On the Fritz
	Alex Mauer has been around for many years composing music for the NES, C64, Yamaha synths and more. On the Fritz is a dark, fast tune on the NES with influences from Megaman. It's a little short but it gets better and better for each iteration when looped. Visit Alex' website as well as the awesome 2A03.org archive to find more of his stuff. © Alex Mauer

3. Funky Fish	R2 D2
	Funky Fish was the silver medallist of Winter Chip I (Battle of the Bits) with a 4-channel version of his funky tune R2 D2. This one is the full 6-channel version which is even better. Funk Fish has a music player on his site where you can enjoy more of his great tunes. Pay him a visit! © Funky Fish

4. Tento	Shiosai to Shiroi Mado
	Shiosai to Shiroi Mado is a simple, yet cool bossanova tune by the great Tento. It's made with a very simple music editor for the NES. A friend of us listened to Shiosai to Shiroi Mado and said "Is this elevator music? In that case it's the best damn elevator music I've ever heard!" Tento has been composing music for the Wonderswan and the NES for many years. You can find more of his tunes at Muzie. © Tento
